Attention: Mr. Homan

Gentlemen:

I received the other day the Syrian stamp you had expertized for me and beg to thank you for having this done. I am glad to know it was all right.

By any chance do you have Vatican City Stamps of the 1934 issue? Scott's Nos. 37-A and 38A.

Very truly yours,

Curator

Dear Mr. Wood:

Thought you might like these. I am therefore sending them with our compliments. In a recent large purchase I found a number of sets of them.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Homan:

Many thanks for the Bolivian stamps. I never saw these nor in a hasty look have I found anything about them.

I have been meaning to get down town for some time but about the only time I can try to spare is on Friday and I know you are off then. Then again, I am more or less marking time just now.

Sincerely,

Mr. Howland Wood,

Dear Mr. Wood:

I am sorry to trouble you with these things,
but of the three enclosed coins one belongs to each of three friends of mine who asked me to find out their approximate selling price.

I hate to bother you and I hope you do not mind helping me on such matters every now and then. You know that I will always be glad to reciprocate in kind with matters philatelic.

I am enclosing herewith a stamped, self-addressed envelope for their return.

Sincerely,

Dear Sir:

Yours just at hand. None of the three coins have any especial value. The 50¢ piece at the most would bring 55¢ or 60¢, the gold pieces only that it would sell for as old gold, as it is too badly worn for any collector. Then again, it is not rare.

The 3¢ nickel piece at the most is worth about 5¢. I am herewith enclosing the coins.

Very truly yours,

Curator
